1 Corinthians 9:22b-23: "I have become all things to all people, that I might by all means save some. I do it all for the sake of the gospel, that I may share in its blessings."

Thank you all for your hard work during Youth Week! From our leadership team of Bailey, Kenny, Madison, Kyler, Jake, Mack, and Sam, to each of you teaching Sunday School on Youth Sunday, and to Barefoot Servants and Battle Cry leading in worship, we experienced an excellent week of discipleship, worship, and leadership.

As we move forward into the spring, toward Holy Week, Easter Sunday, and the beginning of Rev. Will Dyer's ministry with our church, lets try to remember the Sunday School lesson we taught on Youth Sunday. Just because Youth Week 2017 has come and gone doesn't mean that our time to lead as youth has come to a close. In our daily lives, in the way we care for one another and others at our school, in the way we choose to live, and in the way we practice our faith here at church, we can constantly teach and lead one another as strong examples of faithful followers of Jesus.

I encourage you to do a couple of different things as we move forward: first, remind yourself every morning to set an example through the way you choose to live. Remind yourself when you're at school that you've walked into a dynamic mission field, with opportunities to rely on the Holy Spirit to empower your actions, which leads to more and more opportunities to share the good news of King Jesus with your fellow students. Second, remind yourself every time you come here to worship with your brothers and sisters in Christ to come in anticipation.

Anticipate that each time you come here to worship, you'll meet King Jesus. In coming to worship with a sense of anticipation, you will be helping to lead in worship week in and week out.

So lets build on the momentum of youth week — and continue to set an example for the believers in speech, in life, in love, in faith, and in purity.

For the Kingdom,

Jacob
